WEDNESDAY, MARCH 9, 1910.

There is a power within you that is greater than all the microbes in the world.

When you reach the half-century mark you should not think of old age or retirement; you should then proceed to undertake the greatest achievements of your life; and by staying young you may see your purpose through.

Give the bigger man on the inside full right of way. Believe in your greater interior self. Know that you have something within you that is greater than any obstacle, circumstance or difficulty that you can possibly meet. Then, in the full faith in this greater something proceed with your work.

The reason why some towns grow is because there are men of push and energy in it, who are not afraid to spend their time and money to boom their town. They erect substantial buildings, organize stock companies and establish factories, secure railroads, work for public improvements and use every means in their power to induce people to locate in their city. Wherever they go they tell of the advantages of their city, they write about them in every letter, they send circulars and newspapers to all whom they think they can get to visit the city, and when anyone visits them, treats him so kindly that he falls in love with them and their duty at once. It is enterprise and everyone pulling together that makes a progressive town and don't let the fact escape your memory.

There is no reason why the human race should not be more highly developed. If an ordinary weed can be developed into a beautiful rose, ordinary human beings can be developed into men and women of rare quality and high worth. We are all children of nature; what is applicable to one of nature's products is applicable to all. If the desert on the plains can be made to "blossom as the rose," the many deserts we find in the character, the mentality and the personality of the average human being can be made to blossom in the same way. If nature, when properly directed, can cause a blackberry to become white, why might not the same be done with human character, no matter how black or depraved it might be? If the worthless cactus can be developed into a thornless cactus that is excellent for food, there is no reason why every worthless human individual cannot become a most valuable factor in the promotion of wealth and happiness in the world. If we can remove the thorns from the cactus we can remove the thorns (criminal tendencies) from those who have wronged society, and it is the business of great minds to discover how.

LOOKING PLEASANT.

Why is it that most people, as they walk along the streets or ride in the cars, have such an unpleasant expression? If one will observe even casually the people he meets in a day he will be impressed with the pained and sullen and disagreeable countenances. We live in a rush, and the average person is bent on some errand or business and is absorbed in that; we are all rushing to get something or somewhere. With this absorbing our attention we haven't time to attend to our facial expression. We are not sure, however, that this is a matter of permissible indifference. If one does not believe that his countenance adds to or detracts anything from the lives or expressions of others let him pause for a moment before that now celebrated "Billiken." It is almost impossible to look at the little imp and not smile. The Japanese teach their maids in the hotels, and those also in higher walks of life, the art of smiling. They are compelled to practice before a mirror. One can not stay long in Japan without being inoculated with the disposition to "look pleasant." The "look pleasant, please," of the photographer goes deeper than the photograph plate.

No one wants to associate long with an animated vinegar crust. A disposition is easily guessed from the angle of the corners of the mouth; a disposition is moulded by compelling those angles to turn up or down. If a merry heart maketh a glad countenance it is also true that a glad countenance maketh a merry heart—in the one who has it and in the one who beholds it. "Iron sharpeneth iron. So a man sharpeneth the countenance of his friend."

TAFT ON THE JEWS.

President Taft's tribute to Jewish immigrants and Jewish citizenry, in his recent talk to a delegation from the American Association of Foreign Language Newspapers, was merely a bold endorsement of the truth. That the Jews as a class are among our best citizens, supplying fewer criminals and paupers than any other, has long been recognized as a fact, but there are some opponents to immigration who would close their eyes to anything which might interfere with their cherished plans for locking out the foreigner. Certain bills now pending in Congress evoked the visit from the foreign editors and the President took occasion to voice his admiration and respect for the Jewish immigrant, virtually serving notice that no bill which did not accord to him his just dues, would receive the executive signature.

The declaration will have a beneficial effect.

SHIP SUBSIDIES.

There is a continuous discussion in Congress with reference to ship subsidies. The American carrying trade sixty years ago covered all seas, and the Stars and Stripes could be seen in every port in the world. The flag at present is confined exclusively to our interior and coast trade. Two years ago when our battleships circumnavigated the globe, they were supplied with provisions and coal by foreign vessels. Ex-Secretary of the Treasury Leslie Shaw has recently made the startling announcement that Japan is determined to rule the Pacific or tinge its waves with blood, and he has added to this statement details as to how Japan can do it. He says that we hired twenty-seven foreign ships to carry supplies for our around-the-world battleships, and that one hostile shot from any country that owns a cannon would under international law have sent every one of these twenty-seven ships home, for no country can afford to have its flag involved in our quarrels. He further stated that in 1909 the War Department hired over forty foreign ships to do its work, and that we are sending food to the soldiers in the Philippine Islands in Japanese ships. He stated further that Japan can put two hundred thousand soldiers in Hawaii in thirty days without firing a shot, and that it would take us two years to put one hundred thousand there. The Ex-Secretary of the Treasury has a happy faculty of graphic statement and illustration, and his combination of arithmetic and rhetoric produce a vivid, impressive and true picture. For better or worse, we are a first-class power and a part of the international system. This has been brought about through our Hawaii and our Philippines. The secure insularity once afforded us by the two great oceans is no longer ours. We must be able to defend our frontiers, Hawaii in mid Pacific and the Philippines in Asiatic waters. We cannot do this without soldiers and ships, not only war ships, but colliers and commissary ships. How are we to get sailors and ships when, owing to our tariff, other nations can build ships and employ sailors for half the fifth the price we must pay? As Mr. case of Japan, for less than one fifth the price we must pay. As Mr. Shaw says, "These are not state secrets. Everybody knows them except our voters. We are building battleships, and this is well, but battleships without colliers and transports are absolutely worthless. In case of war we could not get our Atlantic fleet to San Francisco. No vessel in the fleet can carry enough coal to take it there. We have no colliers, and could then hire none." Ex-Secretary Shaw further stated that if every powder mill in the U. S. was to make powder twenty-four hours per day for thirty days, the product would last our present navy only two hours.

Y., where he became an expert printer, filling positions in New York City, Port Jervis and other towns. For several years he worked for Hon. Thos. J. Ham, when he was owner and editor of the Wayne County Herald. At the commencement of the Civil war he enlisted in Co. A, 56th N. Y. Volunteers, being mustered in July 31, 1861, and discharged at Newbern, N. C., with the rank of Lieutenant, for physical disability, April 24, 1863. Mr. Atwood was a charter member of Carroll Post, G. A. R., of Port Jervis, and its commander at his death. The Post conducted the funeral services on Monday afternoon.

WEINSS—The sudden death of Mrs. Barbara Weiss at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. H. Frank, on Tuesday evening, March 1, was a severe shock to her many friends. Mrs. Weiss had been confined to her room since Wednesday of last week but her real illness dates back about a week previous. She had been a sufferer from asthma which complicated with pleurisy and heart trouble caused her death. Deceased was born at Rondout, Oct. 6, 1849, and when about 2 years of age came here with her parents, Frederick and Margaret Stedler, both now deceased, so that she has been a resident of this place practically all her life. Her father was employed in the building of the D. & H. canal and did considerable of the mason work on the locks. Later he engaged in the hotel business in the building now owned by Martin Reader. Mrs. Weiss was united in marriage with John Weiss, at Hawley, in 1865. To them were born five daughters and two sons, all of whom survive except one daughter, Louise. Those surviving are as follows: Mrs. Win. C. Ames and Mrs. A. H. Frank, of Hawley; Mrs. T. A. Lighthiser, of Honesdale; Mrs. A. G. Secor, of Jersey City Heights; Fred and Gustave, of Scranton. She is also survived by three sisters, Mrs. Frank Schroeder and Mrs. Caroline Schroeder, of Scranton, and Mrs. Mary Hasehon, of Danville, and one brother, Jacob Stedler, of Scranton. Mr. Weiss died about 25 years ago. Mrs. Weiss was a woman of gentle and winning personality; she was highly esteemed and her sudden death will mean a severe blow to her friends and acquaintances. The funeral was held Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. A. H. Frank, Rev. Rudolf Lucas officiating. Burial was made in the Eddy cemetery.—Hawley Times.

SNOW SUBWAYS.

They Have Such Things Over in Sullivan County.

Subways in Sullivan county at the present time are almost as common as in New York. On account of the deep snow Nelson Monroe, a farmer, living three miles from Monticello, on the road to Liberty, has had to tunnel his entire premises in order to go from his house to the cattle barn. His place is situated in a valley where the wind sweeps down and the drifted snow has completely submerged his house, shutting out all trace of daylight and the occupants are compelled to burn lamps in going about the house. Farmer Monroe's subway was discovered by his neighbors one day last week when they went to make an investigation of his non-appearance. He met them at the mouth of the tunnel and escorted them into the house where his wife sat peeling apples by lamplight. The party then attempted to explore the subway leading to the barn, but was forced to beat a hasty retreat when the farmer's big Holstein bull appeared at the other end with the threatening manners of a "subway hog." Farmers living in the towns of Forrestburg and Lumberland are sharing their hay with the wild deer which have been forced to leave their snowbound haunts to find something to eat. Game wardens in all the towns where wild animals are known to exist have given the farmers instructions to feed them at the expense of the county. Scores of partridges and English pheasants have been found frozen to death in the snow while the fox, lynx and wildcat are a source of great annoyance to the farmer by their nightly raid on his chicken coop.

SIRO.

Leon Mitchell came over from Carbondale Wednesday evening to attend the party at A. K. Kimble's at Dyberry. Bertha Bellamy, of Honesdale, is visiting her friend, Edna Arthur. John Ridd purchased a fine team of horses at Honesdale last Thursday. George Van Deusen and Mrs. F. J. Robinson spent Friday in Scranton. Jessie Nelson returned home Friday evening after spending a week with relatives at Honesdale and Waymart. We are sorry to learn that Mrs. J. A. Scambler and son Clarence expect to leave us soon to make their home in Scranton. Ed. Smith expects to have a telephone installed in his house soon. John Heller of Seelyville, has rented Virgil Bishop's farm, and has moved thereon.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly falling to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

ADDS IN THE CITIZEN ALWAYS BRING RESULTS

DR. KLOPSCH IS DYING.

Through His Publication He Has Distributed $3,300,000.

New York, March 7.—Dr. Louis Klopsch, editor and publisher of the Christian Herald, known the world over for his charities, is dying in the German Hospital, Park avenue and Seventy-seventh street, as the result of an operation performed last Thursday.

It was said at the hospital last night Dr. Klopsch would probably die before morning. His wife and son are at his bedside. The operation, which was to remove an abdominal obstruction, extended over a period of nearly two hours and was the last hope of saving his life.

Dr. Klopsch was taken ill Jan. 28 in Washington, where he had gone to attend a hearing on the Postal bill. Despite his ailment he remained in the capital city several days without receiving medical attention.

When Dr. Klopsch went to the German Hospital his condition was considered critical, but life was not despaired of. On Thursday the operation was deemed necessary. The patient's strength was not sufficient to stand the shock. Saturday he rallied but yesterday a reaction set in and last night he sank into unconsciousness.

Through the Christian Herald Dr. Klopsch has distributed upward of $3,300,000 in international charities. He raised a large fund to succor starving Finns some years ago, for which he received the thanks of the Czar. He also raised a fund for the relief of the famine stricken in India and was thanked by the British Government. Another fund was raised for the relief of Japanese famine sufferers and Dr. Klopsch was decorated with the Order of the Rising Sun by the Mikado. He aided those made homeless by the earthquake that desolated parts of Italy and Sicily a year ago.

Recently President Taft spoke on invitation of Dr. Klopsch at a meeting in the Bowery Mission, of which Dr. Klopsch is president. Dr. Klopsch also has maintained a summer home for poor children at Nyack, New York.

YOU HAD BETTER TAKE "THE CITIZEN."

OILED ROADS STOOD THE TEST.

But Broome County Floods Wreck the Unoiled Highways.

The Binghamton Republican, of a recent date, says that, following a thorough inspection of all the macadamized roads in Broome county that were swept by the high waters this year, except the Lestershire road, it was announced that every oiled road stood the test in fine shape and that the only unoiled road, the Conklin thoroughfare, has suffered damage that may probably cost $5,000 to repair.

To say that the county officials are delighted over the demonstration of the value of oiling roads is putting it mildly, adds the Republican.
